PREPARING YOUR PACKAGING FOR COMPOSTING

You've received your ritual products (thanks as always!) and now you want to go beyond recycling and compost the box and packaging. Here are a few tips on how to do so.

1. Remove the packaging tape and label. They won't degrade with the rest of your compostable materials.
2. Although not required, it's recommended you cut larger pieces of the cardboard box or packaging paper into smaller pieces to help speed up the composting process.

Use the pieces for your favorite composting process, or try the following method:

- Start your composting pile with cardboard and paper. Wet them and cover them with a 2-inch soil layer.
- Add layers of compostable materials and alternate them with soil.

If you have a composter, always follow the instructions provided.

If you decide to recycle all or a portion of your packaging, please remember to remove the tape and labels. Thank you so much for your support.

From my heart,

Annamarie
